

HEART: Where do you feel compelled to make a difference?

Through different experiences, God helps us to understand our callings.

A call guides us in answering the question, "where can I utilize my spiritual gifts?"

A Call is the God-given desire that causes one to act and make a difference in a particular ministry.

Passion is an internal emotional experience. It may make you feel angry, excited, inspired or tearful. To make a difference in a particular area you need to connect your head with your heart.

To help find your passion you need to pay attention to & take note of what excites you, touches you, frustrates you, and also what motivates you to think differently and take action.

Where you sense that God desires something to change (to align more with God's grace & love), is a place to consider employing your spiritual gifts. This doesn't have to be a big thing (though it might be). Every act, no matter the size or scope, changes things.

The questions on the following pages are to help you think about and consider the areas where you feel an emotional pull to make a difference.

3. What do you want to see happen in the world in the next 6-12 months? What do you want to see happen in your life in the next 6-12 months?

4. What is a legacy you'd like to be remembered for? Include things that you haven't done yet or may need assistance to accomplish.

5. If we asked your friends or a close family member, what would they say you were really interested in or passionate about? (Call/text them and ask!)

6. I usually like to do the following things for others.
